DISCUSSION QUESTIONS:

1. How does the battle between experiencing pain and pursuing pleasure look in your life? Which one generally wins in the end? How does this impact people you are in relationship with?
2. How does the fact that God is “jealous” of the relationship we have with him affect you? Have you ever thought about God’s jealousy as a sign of his love for us, and not his anger against us?
3. Does drawing near to God seem easy or difficult to you?
4. Is resisting the devil something you ever think about? What circumstances would be helpful to think about in this way?
5. How does this passage motivate you toward humility? What do you think needs to happen in your life for it to be more humbly lived?
